

Why support us?

Increasingly companies are judged on their efforts to get involved with the local community and their contributions over and above being in business, creating wealth, employment and paying taxes.

When companies choose their charity partners they often do so because of shared organisational values

- St. Margaret's believe in providing the highest quality service and continually strive for excellence - we do not apologise for the ambitions we have for our patients.

Pairing with a charity partner offers your staff an opportunity to enhance their knowledge, skills and development

- St. Margaret's offers a real partnership opportunity to any organisation which aligns itself to our cause. We are a very open-minded charity and can therefore offer many different experiences to your staff should they so wish. In addition, many of our events offer real team building opportunities.

Supporting your community pays dividends

- St. Margaret's is highly respected in the community. Our work reaches every corner of the social structure. Almost every family in Somerset, and within our borders, will have had some experience of the hospice, or know of someone who has benefited from our help. This means that we have what is known in business terms as 'strong market penetration'. While some do not know what we really do, they all know that what we do is 'worthy'. By allying yourself with us, you will benefit from the association.

Your customers will approve of your commitment

- By supporting a local charity that has to raise over 6,500,000 per annum to provide its services, you can be sure that your money will really make a difference within the community, and that your commitment will be recognised by both your local customers and your staff.

For more information about the business case for corporate responsibility download an information booklet here.

Explore the links in the navigation bar to the left find out more about the different ways you can support the St Margaret's Somerset Hospice - including some that will cost you little or no money!