

Professional development and learning

Our department for professional development and learning is dedicated to providing a high quality education service, designed to meet the specialist palliative care training needs of St Margaret's staff and other health and social care professionals across the UK.

We offer a wide range of educational courses, study days and academic modules in specialist palliative care and other related subjects.

St Margaret's has an accredited academic partnership with the University of Plymouth and delivers modules at degree and diploma level & graduate certificate/graduate diploma in palliative care.

Our education programme is designed to be as flexible and accessible as possible. All courses and study days are delivered by a team of highly skilled and experienced professionals from across the multi-professional team, and the content and material used is kept under constant review to ensure that it continues to meet the highest possible standards of evidence based practice.

We also design and deliver specialist palliative care programmes to meet specific needs of other allied health and social care providers. For further information please contact us.

Academic modules, courses, & study days

Using our experience in delivering specialist palliative care for over 25 years, St Margaret's has developed a comprehensive programme of academic modules, courses and study days to meet the needs of health and social care professionals.

Academic Modules

Through our long established academic partnership with the University of Plymouth, we are able to offer a number of academic degree and diploma level modules. They are designed, developed and delivered by St Margaret's, and run on a continuing basis throughout the year.

Health Care Assistant Programme

This is a dedicated programme for HCA's on the 3 key areas of specialist palliative care.

Hospice Core Study Programme

The Hospice Core Study Programme is a comprehensive programme of specialist palliative care study days covering all aspects of holistic palliative care, aimed at the multi-professional team.

Clinical Skills

A series of study days and workshops, based on sound theoretical knowledge, that enables the practitioner to enhance their skills and practice in key areas of palliative care.

Supporting Loss and Bereavement

Delivered at a professional level, this six-day course is solidly based in current theory and thinking. It will explore the evidence and recent discussions about the best ways to support people in bereavement and grief, providing opportunities for experiential learning and skills practice. Please come expecting to invest in the group's growth and development over the six weeks by active participation and sharing your own experience and learning.
